HONORED

The RSVP Players, a program of Greater Cleveland Volunteers, was awarded the 2009 Ohioana Citation for Theater and Community Service by the Ohioana Library Association at the group's annual meeting at the Ohio Statehouse on October 17. For the past 17 years, the RSVP Players have presented more than 1500 performances to senior groups, business and professional organizations, senior festivals and health and wellness fairs throughout Northeast Ohio. The group was recognized for its "significant contribution to the State of Ohio inspiring those who follow to believe in and work to develop their talents so that the arts and humanities might flourish across the State of Ohio".
